On the icy roads of America, thousand miles from home, Dusan works as a truck driver and lives throughout everyday stories from homeland.

Short Synopsis

There are more than 10 thousand Serbian truck drivers living in Chicago area. That is not a whole truth because most of them actually lives in truck cabin and sleep every night at different location. One of those truck drivers is Dusan who drives through wild and picturesque scenery across America, communicating via Skype with his loved ones in Serbia. On the road he gets all sorts of personal news. The truck cabin is the place where the moments of happiness and sorrow are concentrated.

Story which the film is primarily concerned with is a social theme accompanied by strong visual poetics of American roads, vast distances, traveling from one side of the continent to the other, during which in the truck cab an entire life evolves that runs parallel with life in the homeland.

CREW BIOS

Miloš Ljubomirović - trucker, camera, producer and director

Under graduate studies finishes on Faculty of Organizational Sciences in Belgrade, then masters studies on Faculty of Dramatic Arts (Film and TV production program). Won 7 national and international awards for his short films, 4 of them with his master's thesis that he both produced and directed – short film “Shadows”. Faculty of Dramatic Arts awarded that film with “Dejan Kosanovic Award” for best film in masters studies. Sarajevo talents alumni.

Rajko Ristanović - editor

Rajko has Bachelor's degree in audio recording&sound design and in Film&TV Editing on Faculty of Dramatic Arts in Belgrade, and he's a diploma film away from he's Master degree in the same department. As a best student in his generation he was awarded a “Slavko Vorkapich Award” in 2015. As a movie editor he worked on a great number of projects. Those worth mentioning are four short movies “Banat triangle”(2012), “To The Border”(2013), “Ucronia”(2014), “Water”(2014). In May 2014. Rajko directed and edited his debutant short movie “Razor”. He's film had 70 official selections and won 12 awards, most memorable one being the one for best editing from 8th Tangier International Short Film Festival.

Dane Vlajsavljević - sound designer

Graduated sound designer (Academy of Arts, Belgrade) and electrical engineer (University of Belgrade). Dane started his professional career in 2009 as sound engineer at Radio Television of Serbia, but soon merged his passion for cinema and technology into the art of film sound design. In 2014, his work was included in top five at Audio Engineering Society's Sound for Visual Media contest in Berlin and in 2016 he was nominated for European Talent Award at Sound Track Cologne film sound & music festival. Some of his projects include sound editorial and design on award-winning films and TV series such as “The Witch-hunters”, “Open Wound”, “Shadows”, “The Other Side of Everything”, “The Black Sun”, etc.

Stray Dogg - music

Stray Dogg started out as a solo Indie-folk/ Indie-rock/Americana project by singer-songwriter Dukat Stray, who soon decided to flesh out the band with a couple of well-trained musicians. Over time, the line-up expanded and now includes a guitarist, violinist, keyboardist, bassist and drummer – in addition to Dukat’s incredible vocals and guitar-work. Stray Dogg were already warming up for Michelle Gurevich and Scout Niblett just a few months into their joint career, and even managed to snag Devendra Banhart for a guest appearance on their second album Fire’s Never Wrong. After grabbing the well-earned attention of fans inside the Balkan region, with their third album Stray Dogg started to finally tour around the rest of Europe playing a number of bigger festivals, and expanding their fan base worldwide.
